Short title

9. This Act is called the Prevention of Illegal Eviction from and Unlawful Occupation of Land Amendment Act, 2008.

MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE PREVENTION OF ILLEGAL EVICTION FROM AND UNLAWFUL OCCUPATION OF LAND AMENDMENT BILL, 2008

1. BACKGROUND

The Prevention of Illegal Eviction from and Unlawful Occupation of Land Act, 1998 (Act No. 19 of 1998), hereinafter referred to as “the Act”, came into operation on 5 June 1998. The intention of the Act was to provide for the prohibition of unlawful eviction, and to put in place fair procedures for the eviction of unlawful occupiers who occupy land without the permission of the owner or the person in charge of such land.

However, since its inception, various interpretation and implementation problems have been identified. The Prevention of Illegal Eviction from and Unlawful Occupation of Land Amendment Bill, 2008 (the Bill), seeks to address these issues.

It may be mentioned that during 2005, the Prevention of Illegal Eviction from and Unlawful Occupation of Land Amendment Bill, 2005, was tabled in Parliament. The 2005 Bill addressed the same matters contained in the current Bill. However, during deliberations in the Portfolio Committee on Housing, it was resolved that that Bill should be withdrawn to allow for further consultation with the Department of Land Affairs, with a view to align the Act itself with similar land occupation laws administered by the Department of Land Affairs. The current Bill is the result of those consultations.

2. OBJECTS OF BILL

2.1 The Bill seeks to amend section 1 of the Act by—

- (a) inserting a definition for “constructive eviction” so as to allow for the prohibition of this practice under an amendment to section 3 of the Act, which deals with the prohibition of certain acts;
- (b) amending the definition of “evict” by deleting references to “building” and “structure”;
- (c) amending the definition of “land” to include buildings and structures on land. Many buildings, particularly high-rise buildings, have been and continue to be occupied unlawfully, often at the instance of non-owners who then collect rent from the illegal occupants;
- (d) amending the definition of “Minister”;
- (e) amending the definition of “municipality”;
- (f) amending the definition of “person in charge” to include organs of state which administers or controls land; and
- (g) amending the definition of “unlawful occupier” so as to exclude persons to whom the Land Reform (Labour Tenants) Act, 1996 (Act No. 3 of 1996), applies, whilst simultaneously including persons to whom the Interim Protection of Informal Land Rights Act, 1996 (Act No. 31 of 1996), applies.

2.2 There has been confusion as to whether or not the Act applies to proceedings for the eviction of erstwhile tenants, or mortgagors who refused to vacate land after their leases were cancelled or on foreclosure of their bonds. The Supreme Court of Appeal has held that these categories of persons do indeed fall under the provisions of the Act (see Ndlovu, Ngcobo, Bekker & another v Jika 2003 (1) SA 113 (SCA)). It was not the intention that the Act should apply to tenants and mortgagors who default in terms of their prior agreements with landlords and financial institutions, respectively. The Act should cover only those persons who unlawfully invade land without the prior consent of the landowner or person in charge of land.

2.3 It has thus been necessary to amend section 2 of the Act (application section) to state specifically that the Act does not apply to a person who occupied land as a tenant, in terms of any other agreement or as the owner of land and who continues to occupy despite the fact that the tenancy or agreement has been validly terminated or the person is no longer the owner of the land.

2.4 A problem that may arise as a result of the amendment of section 2, is that an owner or person in charge of land may try to avoid the application of the Act, e.g. by entering into a simulated agreement with unlawful occupiers, only to terminate it shortly afterwards. In this regard the Bill seeks to grant a court the power to order that the Act applies if it is satisfied that any act or omission by the owner or person in charge of land was calculated to avoid the application of this Act.

2.5 Whilst the Act currently prohibits the receipt or solicitation of money or other consideration as a fee for arranging for a person to occupy land without the consent of the owner, the act of arranging an unlawful occupation of land is not an offence. Due to the nature and increase in land invasions, often on land which has already been earmarked for housing development, it is deemed necessary to make it an offence for a person to arrange the unlawful occupation of land. It is proposed to amend section 3(1) of the Act in this regard.

2.6 Section 3(3) and (4) currently provides that money or other considerations received by a person in contravention of section 3, must upon conviction of such person be repaid to the person from whom it was received, or if the person cannot be positively identified, into the National Revenue Fund. In this regard two issues have been identified and is addressed in the proposed amendments. Firstly, the reference to money or other consideration is not wide enough and should also include any assets acquired with such money. Secondly, it is deemed necessary that, where land is administered or controlled by a municipality, any money should rather be paid into the municipal operating account and not the National Revenue Fund.

2.7 Section 4 is amended to align the provisions pertaining to the giving of notice regarding eviction proceedings and the content of a court order for eviction, with the corresponding provisions of the Extension of Security of Tenure Act, 1997 (Act No. 62 of 1997), and the Land Reform (Labour Tenants) Act, 1996 (Act No. 3 of 1996).

2.8 Section 4(2) of the Act provides that “the court must serve written and effective notice”. Serving a notice is clearly not a function of the court and it is proposed to amend the section suitably.

2.9 In respect of eviction proceedings before a court, sections 4(6), 4(7) and 6(3) of the Act currently draw a distinction between persons occupying for less than six months and persons occupying for more than six months. In cases of occupation of less than six months, the Act prescribes certain criteria which a court may take into account when deciding whether or not to issue an eviction order, whilst the Act prescribes different criteria in cases of occupation in excess of six months. This constitutes unequal protection of a person’s right not to be evicted, as afforded by section 26(3) of the Constitution. The proposed amendments to the said sections remove the six months distinction and provide for a single set of criteria to be applicable in all cases of unlawful occupation.

2.10 Section 5 of the Act, which deals with urgent proceedings for eviction, is substituted—

- (a) to align its provisions regarding the giving of notice with those contained in section 4 of the Act; and
- (b) to add to the conditions that a court must take into account before granting an order, the condition that a court may only grant an order if it is satisfied that it is just and equitable to grant the order taking into consideration the speed and scale of the unlawful occupation (proposed section 5(1)(bA)).

2.11 As a consequence of the amendments to section 2 of the Act, the Bill seeks to amend section 6 accordingly.

2.12 The Bill also seeks to substitute the long title of the Act so as to reflect the amendments proposed by the Bill.

3. PERSONS CONSULTED

3.1 An earlier version of this Bill was published in the Gazette for public comment during August 2004, and inputs were received from institutions which included—

4. IMPLICATIONS FOR PROVINCES

None.

5. FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS

None.

6. PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

6.1 The State Law Advisers and the Department of Housing are of the opinion that this Bill must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure established by section 75 of the Constitution since it contains no provision to which the procedure set out in section 74 or 76 of the Constitution applies.

6.2 The State Law Advisers are of the opinion that it is not necessary to refer this Bill to the National House of Traditional Leaders in terms of section 18(1)(a) of the Traditional Leadership and Governance Framework Act, 2003 (Act No. 41 of 2003), since it does not contain provisions pertaining to customary law or customs of traditional communities.
